BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Bob Knecht of Grande Prairie, a daughter. May 2. Now watch Teddy's chest expansion. Mrs. Ted Schmidt flew from Edmonton to Grande Prairie to spend a couple of weeks.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Don Buyer, a daughter in Calgary General Hospital. Congratulations, folks.

A new teacher has been added to our local staff, Miss Ruth Holland of Ghost Pine.

Mrs. Torrance and Mrs. A. J. McLeod were co-hostesses at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Torrance in honor of Margaret Anne Linstead, bride-to-be of Brian McKibbin, son of Mrs. McKibbin and the late Mr. McKibbin of Calgary, formerly of McKibbin's Drug Store, Carbon. Brian attended school at Carbon.

The bride elect was joined in a treasure hunt for her gifts and clues were attached to a piece of coleport china. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. C. Kirby, Red Deer (nee Marion Torrance), Mrs. W. Douglas of Lacombe (nee Elaine Torrance), Mrs. Lou Hay of Carbon. The McKibbin-Linstead wedding will be held May 16 in Calgary.

We are glad to report Mr. Fred Harsch has returned home after spending the past seven weeks in a Calgary Hospital undergoing an eye operation. We wish him a good return of his eyesight.

Opl. and Mrs. Jimmy Graham and family were visitors at the home of their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Graham returned to Calgary with them to spend a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Grace Gieck returned last week and we congratulate her on the completion of her course at the University of Alberta in Calgary. Mrs. Gieck is now on the teaching staff at the Hesketh School.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Farthing of Calgary were visitors at the home of their parents Mr. and Mrs. Dave Anderson.

The H.S.A. held its annual meeting May 7th with Pres. R. Snell in the chair. The meeting opened in the usual manner. The Library reported it has been moved into the old school building but the library building is still the property of the H.S.A. The Library Committee has a chance to rent said building with the option of buying. Reports on this next meeting. Graduation Banquet will be catered to by the H.S.A. Watch for date. Tickets will be on sale by Grade II students who are assisting with the program and will assist in serving. The film "Sceptre and the Mace" was shown and the meeting closed in the usual manner.

The H.S.A. will hold its Annual Meeting and also the Annual Library Meeting in the Auditorium June 4th. Please plan to attend.

Mrs. M. Bushby left Thursday for Edberg to visit at the home of her daughter and son-in-law and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Borgstrum (nee Diane).

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson of Buck Creek were weekend visitors at the home of their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Matt Kary. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, formerly of Carbon, have spent the winter in the States and stopped off on their way home. Also visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kary were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kary

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank all our friends and the organizations who so kindly sent flowers and cards, and showed other kindnesses during our recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Stubbart and Family.

CARD OF THANKS

BRAMLEY—

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to all friends for their kindness, expressions of sympathy and cards during our recent sad bereavement. Our special thanks to everyone who so often remembered Doris with cards, gifts and flowers during her long illness, and to the Anglican W.A., I.O.D.E. and Acme O.E.S. who never forgot her. Her loving Husband, Children and Mother.

PROTECT YOUR PIGS AGAINST THE No. 2 PIG KILLER

Swine Erysipelas is Canada's No. 2 pig killer, ranking next to Cholera as the swine raiser's main disease problem.

In some respects, erysipelas is a more serious disease than cholera because of the insidious nature of the infection, the confusing symptoms, and the toll it may take before it is recognized. Swine erysipelas may appear in three forms:

The Chronic Type is identified by swollen joints that may be extremely painful, interfering with the pig's movements. Arthritis later develops. The joints may become distorted and deformed.

The Diamond Skin Form is a milder form characterized by the presence of reddened areas of the skin, often assuming a rectangular shape.

The Acute Type is the most common form of the disease and is responsible for most death losses. It assumes a rapid course and may cause deaths before symptoms are noted. It is characterized by extremely high temperatures, a reluctance to move. The affected animal shows symptoms of pain and stiffness when forced to move.

Modern biological science provides swine growers with two effective products for the control of erysipelas: Erysipelas Bacterin and Anti-Swine Erysipelas Serum.

Erysipelas Bacterin (Colorado Ery-Tex Erysipelas Bacterin) is prepared from chemically inactivated whole broth cultures of selected strains of Erysipelothrix rhusiopathiae. It is Aluminum Hydroxide absorbed and concentrated. This product is tested in serial lots for sterility, safety and potency. Ery-Tex does not transmit erysipelas or contaminate premises.

Ery-Tex is recommended for the immunization of healthy swine and turkeys against erysipelas. As a rule sick or weak animals do not tolerate immunizing agents as well as animals in good health. For swine:

Up to 100 pounds.....5 cc      Over 100 pounds.....10 cc

Anti-Swine Erysipelas Serum (Colorado) is recommended for both treatment and prevention. It is the product of choice for use in herds during an outbreak of the disease, as it provides a prompt resistance. The resistance conferred by anti-serum is of short duration, however, and pigs should be re-vaccinated with Ery-Tex after the disease has subsided in the herd.

Dosage of anti-serum when used as a preventive should be: Pigs up to 50 pounds.....5 cc      From 50 to 75 pounds 10 cc
From 75 to 100 pounds.....15 cc      100 pounds and over 20 cc

Treatment of sick pigs should consist of injections of Anti-Swine Erysipelas Serum and Procaine Penicillin G, either oil or aqueous solutions. Dosage, of serum, at least twice that of the preventive dose, should be administered at 24 to 48 hour intervals. This should be supplemented by intramuscular injections of penicillin. Doses should be approximately 300,000 units, except for very small pigs, which may be smaller.

The best method of control of this costly disease is routine vaccination of all pigs at 8 to 12 weeks of age. Breeding stock should be re-vaccinated annually. By vaccinating bred sows and gilts about six weeks before farrowing, a measure of protection may be passed on to the baby pigs while they are nursing. This passive immunity can then be reinforced at weaning time.

Much-travelled Army chaplain moves again

A much-travelled Army Catholic chaplain is on the move again. He is Capt. Louis C. Schmidt, a member of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate, who begins new duties at Camp Gagetown, N.B., on April 1st.

Since joining the Army in 1952 at Winnipeg he has completed two overseas tours of duty and latterly has been Catholic chaplain at Camp Shilo and Winnipeg. Father Schmidt feels there is a big contrast between his Army work and that of his fellow Oblates employed within the Arctic circle.

He began his priestly life on the Hobbema Indian Reserve in Alberta after being ordained on June 29, 1941, at the Sacred Heart Seminary, Lebreton, Sask. At Hobbema he was bursar of the Ermineskin Indian School and later principal of the school.

His methods of travel have changed greatly since his early days as a priest. Then he travelled by horse and buggy, sleigh, and in his words, "rather ancient cars". Since becoming an Army chaplain he has travelled by RCAF Dakota, Packet and Otter aircraft, and in Army scout cars, carriers, trucks and staff cars.

The seven years he has spent in the Army have also provided a much different life for him than the quiet one he led as a young man at Duck Lake, Sask., where he was born 45 years ago.

One year after joining the Army he began his first overseas duty when he sailed for Germany. There he was appointed Chaplain to the 2nd Battalion, The Royal Canadian Regiment, and later was employed as Chaplain at the Headquarters of Canada's NATO Army formation.

It was near the ancient Westphalian city of Soest that he met HRH the Duke of Edinburgh who, as Colonel-in-Chief of The Royal Canadian Regiment, visited to present the Queen's and Regimental Colours to the Regiment's 2nd Battalion.

A much-remembered experience was observing the ceremonies in Soest during the 1,000th anniversary of that city's St. Patrokil Cathedral. The remains of the German St. Patrick lie enclosed in a glass case in the basement of the stately structure.

Returning to Canada in 1955, he served at Headquarters, 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade in Edmonton, and then at Calgary Garrison. His mother, Mrs. Rose Delima Schmidt, resides at 1917th Street West in Calgary.

In November of 1956 when the Queen's Own Rifles were alerted at Calgary for United Nations' service in the Middle East, Capt. Schmidt was the first chaplain named to the Canadian contingent of the Emergency Force. Shortly after he was flown to Egypt with the Canadian advance party.

In Egypt he had "parishioners" spread from one end of the desolate Sinai Peninsula to the other, as well as in the world-attention-getting Gaza Strip. He became well-known to RCAF pilots as the man who always wanted to be aboard every Dakota or Otter flight that visited the isolated desert outposts of the UN force.

The iron-grey-haired padre is a firm and deliberate man, with an

A VANISHED SKILL

The art of penmanship is fast disappearing from the North American continent, a fact often commented upon and lately emphasized at the session of the Handwriting Foundation in Chicago.

Delegates to the meeting were told in no uncertain terms that good handwriting has fallen into disuse. The majority who read this editorial will agree that people just don't write well any more.—The St. Catharines Standard.

imposing physical bearing reminiscent of a football lineman. Whether in Germany, Egypt or Canada he can often be seen on the softball diamond or volleyball court as a player and not as a spectator.

Most of his time is occupied in conducting divine services, including daily Mass, and holding "Padre's hours" with soldiers, as well as visits to sick soldiers, private interviews and informal chats.

It is part of his philosophy that a "quiet word of encouragement or an understanding ear can mean the difference between a hard-working purposeful soldier, and an unhappy, complaining one."

U. of S. purchases bronze sculpture

The University of Saskatchewan has announced that the most recent acquisition of the Norman Mackenzie Art Gallery, Regina College, is a major piece of bronze sculpture "Mother and Child" (1941) by Jacques Lipchitz. The purchase was made from trust funds left to Regina College in the T. D. Brown Estate.

The "Mother and Child" was one of the most impressive pieces of sculpture in the retrospective exhibition of Lipchitz's works held in the Art Gallery in January. R. L. Bloore, Director of the Gallery, stated that "it is without a doubt the finest piece of sculpture in the Province and is the most significant single work now in the Art Gallery collection."

The "Mother and Child" was high and is cast in bronze. Other works by Lipchitz are in almost every major art gallery and museum in the United States. Lipchitz is represented in such university galleries as Yale University Art Gallery, Wellesley College's Farnsworth Art Museum and in the collection of Washington University, St. Louis.

The exhibition "Sculpture by Jacques Lipchitz" had been displayed in the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Montreal prior to Regina. It is currently in Winnipeg and will then be exhibited in the Art Gallery of Toronto. Saskatchewan's "Mother and Child" will remain with the exhibition until the end of the tour in April.

Lipchitz, born in 1891, has for years been regarded as one of the few great sculptors of the present century. He received his initial training and recognition in Paris, but since 1941 has been living and sculpting in the United States. At present a large retrospective exhibition of his works—116 pieces—is touring the major European public galleries.

Henry R. Hope, head of the Art Department, University of Indiana, referred to the "Mother and Child" in a Museum of Modern Art catalogue, "Sculpture of Jacques Lipchitz". In that publication he wrote: "This huge, powerful torso, with every muscle flexed, head thrown back and arms raised in supplication, is a tortured prayer for the salvation of Europe—of the beautiful land of Ile de France and of the distant village of Druskeniki (Lipchitz' birthplace in Lithuania). Working in emotional tension, it was only after the sculpture was completed that Lipchitz discovered the source of his image—hidden until then in his subconscious mind: 'In 1935 while visiting a sister in Russia, we had come out of a theatre late at night in the rain, and hearing the voice of a woman singing in a loud, hoarse voice, traced it through the darkness until suddenly she appeared under a street lamp, a legless cripple in a little cart, with both arms raised and with her wet hair streaming down her back as she sang'."

Dr. Ferdinand Eckhardt, Director of the Winnipeg Art Gallery has described the "Mother and Child" as one of Lipchitz' "most touching works . . . a most impressive representation of mother earth in the terrible early forties"; and of Lipchitz himself "he is one of the most sincere, powerful and moving figures in contemporary sculpture." Concerning Regina's acquisition Dr. Eckhardt wrote in a recent letter to the Gallery Director, "I am very happy that this wonderful work will stay in Western Canada and I congratulate you and your gallery very heartily. To tell you the truth, I regret it very deeply as I had decided to have it for the Winnipeg Art Gallery."

TV may come to Lloydminster

CKSA television Limited is applying to the New Board of Broadcast Governors for a Television Station on Channel 2. The Canadian General Electric Company consultants for the newly proposed Television Station have finalized the technical survey. In order to provide the maximum possible coverage to all CKSA listeners, plans call for an antenna tower 605 feet high. This will be the second highest tower in Alberta.—The Herald, Unity, Sask.

Alan Jarvis, Director of the National Gallery of Canada, Ottawa, said in a telephone conversation "(Lipchitz is) a very great sculptor indeed. One of the great artists of our time" and specifically concerning the "Mother and Child," "a very wise choice!"

The American art critic Thomas Hess has described Lipchitz as "A sculptor who has found a means of human expression."

ARTISTS' SKETCH—Contracts have recently been advertised for the construction of the new four-lane highway bridge over the North Saskatchewan River, an artists' sketch of which is shown here. Building of the new span represents a major project for the Bridge Branch of the Department of Highways and estimated cost of the structure is some two and one half million dollars. It is hoped to have the bridge completed by the autumn of 1960 and steel for the project is to be delivered to the Prince Albert site by the end of this year. Features of the seven-span bridge will include conduits for the carrying of utility services—water, gas, electricity and telephone, under the deck of the bridge. These will come into use as the growth of Prince Albert continues. The bridge will be a four-lane structure with a four-foot median concrete strip to run down the centre. Each lane will be 24 feet wide. A five-foot wide sidewalk will also be built on each side of the traffic bridge.

Beware of peddlers in person or in catalogue form

New type mail order catalogue dangles sham bargains as bait

NOTE: An article under this title by Dick Snell appeared in the December 6th issue of the Calgary Herald. Part of the article is quoted word for word, below, story

SOME WHOLESALE TAGS PROVE TO BE FICTION: "Bargains," promoted by the phoney price tag are making their appearance in Calgary through a number of mail order catalogues being distributed to large business firms. With some legitimate savings on nationally advertised products included to catch the buyers' eyes, the promoters are employing the phoney tag pitch in watches, diamonds and jewellery. Investigation by the Herald shows the "super-duper, special to you, wholesale price" being quoted is the same or sometimes higher than the regular price of the same or similar goods in local stores. The retail price quoted in the catalogues bears a closer resemblance to fiction than fact. The catalogues, some done on slick paper with expensive bindings, are prepared in the fall and sent to large firms where employees delude themselves into thinking they are getting a special rate. The loaded price tag is an old dodge but it is cleverly exploited in the catalogues. Buyers get the impression the retail prices listed are for others, for them there is a special price which can be arrived at by understanding the secret code. This code is set by numbering each item, including some letter of the alphabet and following it with the so-called wholesale price.

City Retail Prices Are Cheaper: For example, 109K1950 is the "secret" price for a watch marked $39.50 retail. This means you can get item 109K for only $19.50 because you somehow have been chosen as one honoured with the right to get it wholesale. A survey of local jewellery stores will show you the same watch can be obtained for $19.50 retail or even less, and the store is available to stand behind its guarantee. Following are a number of items picked from various catalogues and priced in a local jewellery store:

Diamond bridal sets are advertised in one catalogue as "AAA certified quality." There is no such thing! During the war, A1 and A2 was used to mark diamonds but no longer is that the case. The best diamond today is called "fine white" and so on. The 25 point diamond ring set picked was listed as normally retailing at $250 and available at $125 in its plain mounting. "I could retail that ring at $125, and easily make my full markup on it," the jeweller remarked.

In the same catalogue a lady's wrist watch, 17 jewel with 10K yellow gold rolled plate top (cheapest type) with expansion bracelet is listed as retailing for $75. Special to you it is $39.75 "I could retail that watch for $5 less than their supposed wholesale price," the jeweller said.

Wholesale Quotations Misleading: Two matched cultured pearls in modern 10K gold setting are said in the book to retail for $59 but available to you at $29.50. A similar ring in a local jewellery store will set you back $24.75.

A 30-jewel automatic watch with rolled gold plated case (the cheapest available) anti-magnetic with unbreakable mainspring is listed as retailing at $90. Those in the know get it about half-price. But the same quality watch with a better case, one gold filled, retails normally in city stores for about $40.00.

Another watch is marked as retailing at $84.50 with the confidential price being $42.25. List price on this item to jewellers is $24.90 and it would normally sell about $40.00.

Few Genuine Bargains Offered: The catalogue operators are not so crude as to not have some bargains. One lady's electric shaver is selling for $10.63 and purchasers would be hard pressed to find it under $15.95 in city stores. Nationally-known products with fixed prices are used for this loss-leader offering. Also spotted were savings in pen and pencil sets.

"City jewellery stores can pay their business tax, overhead, wages of clerks, take a fair profit and still match or better the alleged wholesale prices in the catalogues for diamonds, watches and jewellery," the local jeweller stated "On top of that the buyer gets a guarantee from a reputable and established dealer."

Likely purchasers are not taken in by the phoney retail price listed in the catalogues, but the fake figure gives them the feeling it is worth the alleged "wholesale" price made up of a 50 percent cut.

Pittsburg's Duquesne University recently did a study which showed two-thirds of those questioned believed comparative prices fair for such items as ladies' wear; more than half for such things as TV sets and about one-third for jewellery.

Businessmen fear if the phoney price tag scheme, the "suggested retail price" gimmick and "made to sell for" claims get more widespread the buying public will lose confidence in all advertising.

Canadian Wildlife Artist

A tragic accident when he was 22 resulted in the loss of his right arm. Steadfastly maintaining that the power to draw comes from the mind, Tillenius began training his left hand. It took him just 3 years. Today his work is in great demand for magazine and book illustrations. Many of his original paintings are in private collections throughout Canada and the United States.

Of Swedish and Norwegian descent, Tillenius was born in the isolated interlake area of Manitoba where moose, wapiti deer and bears abounded. Wild animals became his pets and from an early age he tramped the woods in search of the colourful birds and animals which fascinated him.

The plane, which is to take Clarence Tillenius, one of North America's foremost wildlife artists, into the northern parts of Manitoba for one of his frequent sketching trips, is readied before take-off.

Beiseker

A Special Board Meeting of the K.I.B.A. Seed Cleaning Plant at Beiseker was held recently to discuss the advisability of building an addition to the present building, which is found to be short of screening bins, and storage rooms for bagged registered grain. It was decided to build the addition 24x24 ft., two storeys high on the south side of the plant. The upper storey will have six screening bins and an added 18x24 feet bagging storage. The lower floor will have another 18x24 bagging storage as well as space for trucks backing in when loading screenings so weed seed will not be scattered around on windy days. Mr. R. M. Hyndman of the Elevator Builders Construction Ltd. presented plans for the addition, and after a thorough discussion, the contract for the addition was given his company with work to commence at once. The Sec.-Treasurer's report showed the plant is in a good financial position. Manager Leo Berreth reported cleaning for April amounted to 40,000 bushels of grain, treating for smut over 20,000 bushels. Total cleaned from September to April 30th, 256,000 bushels which the Board feels is most satisfactory. Several new farmer shareholders were accepted by the meeting.

The Gas Bylaw passed at Beiseker with 79 votes in favor and none against, and no spoiled ballots. Returning officer Mrs. K. Wald reports. This is out of a possible 103 votes, which is most satisfactory and encouraging.

Level Land

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Tetz of Mission City, B.C. were in the Leveland district over the weekend. Pastor Tetz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Tetz who used to live in this district. Pastor Tetz was the manager of the S.D.A. Book and Bible House in British Columbia. Their purpose in visiting this district was to say goodbye to all their friends as they will be sailing Aug. 15 to Poona, India. They will be sailing from San Francisco with their two children Dael 5½ yrs. and Warren 3½. On this trip to Beiseker their children were staying with Mrs. Tetz's parents, L. R. Millers of Armstrong, B.C. Pastor Tetz will take over the occupation of auditor and treasurer of the S.D.A. Conference of India, while Mrs. Tetz will be church organist and Colporteur Wives club director. While in the leveland district he was the guest speaker in the church during the day. In the evening he showed slides on the U.S.A. and Canada. After he was through a surprise party was given in their honour, and at the close of the program they were given a purse of money from the many friends of this district, and all wished them well on their way to India, and God's richest blessing. While here they visited their uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Tetz. There was a good turnout throughout in the day and evening. Regardless of the weather we had May 2, on the 3rd they left for Edmonton where they will spend a week with the Canadian Union Conference Pastor and Mrs. Henry Vor-rath of Long Lake, South Dakota arrived in Beiseker May 4 with friends of the Berreths, also of South Dakota. While here he was visiting his mother Mrs. Mary Vorrath; his sister, Mrs. Henry Borgardt and family; sister, Mrs. John Leiske and family; sister, Mrs. Theo Bechtold and family, and brother, Mr. Alex Vorrath and family.

April 25th the Junior Choir put on a program in the evening at 7:30. 17 numbers were given and enjoyed by all present. Director was Mrs. R. R. Patzer, accompanist Mrs. Henry Stern. Another program by the same choir will be rendered on May 23rd.

Visitors at the S.D.A. church April 25th were Mrs. C. Johnson and Mrs. Karl Fischer, Mrs. Ralph Schaber and Mr. and Mrs. F. Merkel and Willy Sell all of Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Huether of Kelowna, B.C. have been visiting with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Ben Huether for the past five weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kronko of Brandon, Man. were with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Ben Huether over the May 2 weekend.

Canadian Lutheran Council extends Welfare study to all of Canada

Recommendations from the Division of Welfare was the main business before the Canadian Lutheran Council Executive as it met March 8 and 19.

The Division had spent morning and afternoon discussing the progress report submitted by its consultant Mr. Harold J. Belgum of Minneapolis, entitled, "What Shall be the Role of Lutherans in Canadian Social Welfare?"

The 70-page report, said Mr. Belgum, grew largely out of the inventories sent to all Lutheran pastors in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Ontario, and the two-day conferences held in each of the three provinces, attended by six parish pastors and six welfare workers.

Although the Council could not implement a program, being not a church but an agency, it adopted the Division's recommendations, since they dealt with continuing the study to include the rest of Canada.

The first motion extended Mr. Belgum's term as Consultant for the balance of 1959.

In the second motion it was decided to appoint a welfare Council for each province, whose main job during 1959 would be to plan a series of workshops to be held probably in October.

In the third motion it was decided to ask the pastor and five lay people from each congregation to attend the workshop, and thus become acquainted with the major points of the study in their province, and hear practical suggestions for helping on the parish level people in need.

The Executive instructed the secretary to write to Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, President of the United Lutheran Church in America, one of the six churches participating in the Council, assuring him of their prayers for his speedy recovery. A similar letter was ordered sent to Dr. Carl Lundquist of Geneva, Switzerland, Executive Director of the Lutheran World Federation. Prayer was also offered for the recovery of Dr. Earl J. Treusch, who had to miss the meetings due to illness. Although very sick at the time, Dr. Treusch has since returned to his duties as Executive Director of the Council.

Welfare Consultant Reports to Canadian Lutheran Council—

A progress report on the study "What Shall be the Role of Lutherans in Canadian Social Welfare?" was made to the Division of Welfare of the Canadian Lutheran Council which met March 18 in Winnipeg. The 70-page report covered the study conducted during the last six months in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Ontario, by Mr. Harold J. Belgum of Minneapolis. Mr. Belgum is just completing 15 years with the Lutheran Welfare Society of Minnesota. He begins Easter Monday his new post with the Board of Parish Education of the Evangelical Lutheran Church.

In other action, the Division elected Rev. Axel Husted-Christiansen of Winnipeg its new chairman, replacing Dr. G. A. Heimann of Winnipeg, who could not be re-elected due to a constitutional limit of three consecutive terms. Dr. Heimann was elected secretary.

After receiving Mr. Belgum's report, the Division recommended that the Canadian Lutheran Council: continue the study in the rest of Canada, appoint for one-year terms a Lutheran Welfare Council in each province; and ask that five lay people along with the pastor of each congregation attend a welfare workshop in 1959.

THE REPORT

"I was early in my life bothered by the contradiction between the faith professed and the behaviour I witnessed within a local parish," writes Mr. Belgum, engaged by the Canadian Lutheran Council to conduct the study. He goes on to say, in the early pages of the report, that he saw in his fifteen years with the Lutheran Welfare Society of Minnesota, the challenge of changing the "attitudes and feelings of Lutheran people in the local parish toward all persons in grave and serious trouble—in short, to bring to life the doctrine that God is love and His people are the channels through which it must actually grow."

The study began in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Ontario with an inventory, in which Lutheran pastors were asked to indicate what problems in their opinions, are not receiving adequate help—aged, adult offenders, unmarried parents, immigrants, family conflicts, etc.

The study was continued by 12-man discussion teams which met in January and February. Each team, consisting of six pastors and six professional social workers spent two days discussing the results of the inventory, and many other aspects of the role which the Lutheran Church might most appropriately play in welfare.

Common Sense Conclusions

Among eight "common sense" conclusions reached by the 12-man teams were the following:

1. The door should be open to congregations of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod to participate in Lutheran welfare endeavours.

2. "Some vertical pattern was needed to provide articulation between the various levels of church organization: parish—province—nation."

3. "The limited financial resources of Canadian Lutheranism led to considering the less expensive ways of expressing the welfare concern of the church, i.e., through educational work, volunteer services, homemaker services, boarding homes, and leadership roles on Committees and Boards."

4. Most important: To build a working relationship between church leaders and welfare leaders on all levels.

Principles of Lutheran Welfare

A few days after the two-day study, each pastor and social worker was asked to write, at his leisure, five principles which should guide any Lutheran welfare growth in Canada. The principle occurring most often pertained to existing services. In the words of Rev. A. Goos, Saskatoon, "The Church should not waste workers or means in trying to do what the state is already providing, but can bring spiritual salt to this."

Rev. A. Husted-Christiansen of Winnipeg, urged "grass-roots education on the congregational level to make our people understand and appreciate the need for a Lutheran welfare program."

Mr. S. P. McArton, Assistant Director, Department of Welfare, Province of Manitoba, put it another way. I do not think churches plunge into welfare as (some) clubs have done, with projects for Christmas baskets, Halloween apples, and swimming pools for the underprivileged. Rather, they should be stirring and stimulating the consciences of their members, and this means education, participation, fighting, promoting, etc."

Rev. Norman Berner, Kitchener, Ontario, points up the "need for greater understanding and co-operation between congregations and local welfare agencies."

Rev. W. A. Mehlenbacher, Hamilton, cites from a recent copy of "Christianity Today": "The urgent need for a serious study of church-state frontiers and of the theology of social welfare."

The article accuses past generations of church welfare enthusiasts of giving more attention to the

SWALLOWS RETURN

It is generally agreed that when the swallows return, spring is really here. However we are inclined to think that the four or five swallows seen in the back yard of the R. L. McAllister home recently had arrived ahead of schedule. Mr. McAllister phoned the Miner to report the arrival of the birds but was somewhat concerned about their welfare due to the absence of flies and bugs which make up their normal diet. —The Miner, Rossland, B.C.

Editorials

(These are not necessarily the views of the editor of this paper)

Facing a challenge

(The Echo, Star City, Sask.)

Four years ago, in 1955, Saskatchewan celebrated the province's fiftieth anniversary. Communities went all-out to honour their pioneers, and Star City was no exception. Special days were set aside when whole communities came together to not only remember the past, but to pay tribute to the hard work and sacrifice of those who toiled to develop and improve our town and district. A history was published, in which each community traced its growth, and pioneers were cited for their contributions in opening up the land.

Those were days when hard work and success went hand in hand, much the same as today. Many were the sacrifices in time and effort to build the roads, schools, churches, to say nothing of the farms. Hours were long and the work was tedious, being mostly done by hand and horse or ox-power. Yet the efforts of our pioneers were rewarded. We have as a result of their perseverance, one of the most productive agricultural areas to be found anywhere.

That was 50 years ago, and the pioneers of that day have almost all passed from the scene of action. With them goes the memory of a particular age—a particular pioneering job which they have done well—but does their passing mean the end of progress? Are we who succeed them not challenged by the possibilities for advancement in our time? Are we going to contribute something to the community which will be remembered as worthwhile, or are we satisfied to sit back and take advantage of our heritage, without any effort to improve.

Those who endorse the proposed sewerage system for Star City are fully aware that problems are involved. Many people are still confused about the costs—the method of financing, and other problems. Because it is important that everyone concerned be informed of the facts, a Ratepayers meeting has been called to discuss the proposed system and answer questions.

There is no thought on anyone's part to try to "rail-road" this proposition through to completion. However we do suggest that everyone concerned owes it to themselves and the community to become fully acquainted with the facts—and then consider the proposal in the light of what it can mean to the town as a whole over a period of time.

We admire the Pioneers for their community spirit, which resulted in a better life. Nothing too worthwhile is ever accomplished when men consider only themselves and the immediate present. A forward look and a community spirit is what is needed to produce progress. We believe Star City has what it takes!

Future of a town

(The Times, Kennedy, Sask.)

Some weeks ago we took up our usual Sunday lease on a stool on coffee row and listened to all the local plans for making the world's and the town's problems disappear with the application of a little logic.

Guest speaker, for the most part, was a town citizen who likely would be classed as an older resident. This man revealed his survey of the benefits of water and sewerage systems for Whitewood. His remarks showed that he had given the matter considerable thought and had looked into the future to see further developments.

Mainly, however, his thoughts were of what would happen to the town in future years should these systems be installed. His theory contained both beneficial and detrimental points. From where we sat the most outstanding point of his deductions was a point he had passed over entirely—What will happen to Whitewood if water or sewerage is not installed?

Still unanswered were questions such as: Will all our businesses stay here if the town doesn't have modern facilities? Will our young people stay here if we don't have these facilities? How can we expect professional men (dentists, doctors, etc.) to come and live here without facilities they can get in larger towns? What will happen to old-age pensioners if present businesses do leave and others have to raise prices to stay in business? What will happen to old-age pensioners who do not have means of transportation if professional men find it impractical to come for the few days they are coming now? Will we have repeat disasters in fires if we don't get adequate water supplies? Who wants to live in a town whose businesses are closing up or leaving and whose population is shrinking and have paid for the operation of a town which hundreds of other people once helped to pay for and are no longer here?

Before the matter is called to a vote we will have ample opportunity to hear what will happen if we put in water and sewerage but it will be up to us to reason for ourselves what will happen if we don't put it in

9,000 turkey poults perish in $45,000 fire

The most destructive and costly blaze in the Yorkton area since the Smith Block holocaust that destroyed the former Avalon Studios in Yorkton two years ago February 2, gutted a two-storey turkey brooder house at the Parkland Hatcheries ranch west of the city limits.

Yorkton's fire department was called at 7 a.m. but the fire was through the roof of the building on arrival and some 9,000 turkey poults perished in the estimated $45,000 spectacular fire, covered, it is learned, by insurance. Parkland Hatcheries proprietor is D. (Lou) Hluchaniuk.

Cause was a defective oil heater with fire rapidly gaining headway in the huge brooder house. What water supply was available at the ranch was too closely situated to the burning building to use and the water carried by the fire department's pumper was successfully used to protect adjacent buildings, according to Fire Chief Burton Harper.

The fire and damage cost does not affect the city statistics on fires for 1959 as it occurred outside city limits. The Smith Block fire on Broadway, it will be recalled, had estimated damage of $191,150, for the treacherous all-night blaze that destroyed the block but affected a number of firms and individuals as well, fortunately without loss of life or injury.

The two-storey brooder house at the turkey ranch was a T-shaped building and three nearby army-type huts housing about 9,000 more turkey poults were protected from catching fire by the firemen's efforts.

Three other long single-storey buildings which were to house the turkeys as they matured were at no time in danger and were situated some distance away, but the army-type huts were within 40 to 50 feet of the fire.

The alarm was turned in by the night watchman, it was stated.

Mr. Hluchaniuk won top prize for turkeys at the Royal Winter Fair in 1957 and placed second at the 1958 Royal, and he was absent in Winnipeg on business at the time of the fire.—The Enterprise, Yorkton, Sask.

Target of libraries: well informed public

Manitoba government support to Canadian Library Week, April 12 to 18, was given by Hon. Stewart E. McLean, minister of libraries and historical research.

Official approval came in the form of a proclamation, by order-in-council, urging Manitobans to use library services in their communities as an important step toward responsible citizenship through self-education.

Signing of the document was witnessed by John S. Russell, president of the Manitoba Library Association, and Miss Marjorie Morley, provincial librarian.

Canadian Library Week is sponsored by the Canadian Library Association, the Book Publishers Association, and La Société des Éditeurs Canadiens des Livres Français. Its primary aim is to alert Canadians to the dangers of limited horizons and to stress the importance of reading in Canadian life.

The habit of finding out, of intelligently weighing alternatives, and of forging a channel to new ideas and viewpoints, are all results of reading. Special displays and activities during the week-long program are designed to heighten national interest in the printed word.

At the same time, Mr. McLean cited the extreme shortage of librarians across Canada. As new libraries are formed throughout Greater Winnipeg and in rural areas of the province, additional librarians will be needed to staff them, the minister said.

The Manitoba government offers bursaries to encourage the training of qualified librarians. Post-graduate study is available at McGill University, Montreal, and the University of Toronto. The bursaries, based on need, help defray the cost of the course. Seven Manitobans have taken advantage of this assistance in recent years.

DAIRY PRODUCTION

Average production of dairy cows on herd improvement test in Alberta for 1958 was the highest on record, 347 pounds of butterfat and 10,091 pounds of milk. The number of cows on test, 8,709, also was a record.

SIGNS OF SPRING

With spring-like weather prevailing during the past few days, it isn't surprising that signs of spring are evident all around. Crows have been reported from several sources and even fresh pansies have found their way into this office.

Pedestrians and motorists on Broadway received something of a shock one recent afternoon, when they spied a gander waddling up the street oblivious to the stares of passers-by. After giving the town a good looking-over, he headed back for home, still unmolested. Home, by the way, is at Tom Woodward's, and the centre-piece for a nice dinner has a habit of following Mrs. Robson if she doesn't watch him. —The Guide, Killarney, Man.

Fantastic find

A story of the finding of a wedding ring that was lost in 1927 comes from Mrs. Ann Hays, of Winnipeg, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. F. W. Hyde, McLeod avenue.

Mrs. Hays lived in Elphinstone. In 1927 she lost her wedding ring and never found any trace of it. Two years later she moved away. Several different tenants have occupied the house since then.

The present owner is Mrs. Robert Wilson, a friend of Mrs. Hays and Mrs. Hyde. When Mrs. Hyde came to Dauphin, the two sisters paid a visit to Elphinstone to see her.

In the course of the chatting about old memories, Mrs. Hays remembered the lost ring and mentioned it to Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. Wilson looked surprised. "I found a wedding ring in the garden two years ago. I've asked every person I knew had lived in this house but never thought of it being yours. It's so long since you lived here."

She produced the ring, bright and undamaged after its 30 years in the garden.

There's an odd twist to the finding. It was just by chance it was found at all.

Mrs. Wilson had been making curtains and found herself short of two brass rings. When she saw what she thought was a discarded brass ring lying in the dirt, she thought she might be able to clean it up and use it.

But when it was cleaned, she saw it was a wedding ring. She was glad to find the owner, especially when it belonged to an old friend. — The Herald and Press, Dauphin, Man.

PLYWOOD PLANTS

Three poplar plywood plants located in Edmonton and Grande Prairie have a combined production capacity of some 200,000 board feet of quarter-inch plywood per eight-hour day.

POPULATION INCREASE

During 1958 Canada's population increased by 397,000 compared to a gain of 543,000 in 1957; the difference was due to a decline in immigration. Total population at January 1, 1959, was 17,284,000.

In the year ending March 31, 1959, the CBC will have a deficit estimated at $42 million.

LAFF FOR TODAY

A man, unaccustomed to praising his wife, went out of his way to call her an angel.

"Mary," he said one morning, "you're an angel," and she felt charmed all day.

In the evening she ventured to ask why she had been so honored.

"Well," said the wily one "in the first place you are always flitting about; secondly you are always harping on things; and, thirdly, by your own account, you have nothing to wear."—The Kennedy Times, Whitewood, Sask.

Issues strong warning on 'discount clubs'

"The RCMP has been instructed to apprehend and charge any person caught operating a 'discount club' racket in Saskatchewan," Hon. R. A. Walker, provincial Attorney General, said.

He declared that "vague reports" had reached him that "there are some promoters of 'discount clubs' operating in certain areas of Saskatchewan." He emphasized that "since January 1, 1959, such operations have been illegal by virtue of the Commercial Agents Act, unless licensed and bonded under the act. No licenses have been issued, and none will be issued."

Mr. Walker urged that every victim of these "racketeers" report immediately to the RCMP.

"It seems that when a person has been bilked of $100.00, he may

FREAK CALF

This past week a calf was born to a registered cow owned by John Daniliw of Lumsden. It has four eyes—one on each side of the head and two in the middle of the forehead—and two mouths—each with a tongue. The animal can feed from either of the mouths. —Lumsden Weekly, Davidson, Sask.

be bashful about reporting it," said the Attorney General. "However, every victim of these racketeers owes a duty to the public to report promptly to the RCMP any sale, or attempted sale, of such a scheme. This is the only way the public can be protected in future."

Mr. Walker further pointed out that it is the intention of the Attorney General's department to have a separate charge laid with respect to each person victimized, "so that a really substantial fine or term of imprisonment can be meted out to these individuals."

Community action controls pest

"For a strong grasshopper control program, a local control officer or supervisor should be appointed to help spearhead the attack, and to check on enforcement of local bylaws regarding this matter," P. A. Rutherford, Ogema Agricultural Representative said.

Mr. Rutherford also suggested enactment of a new municipal bylaw which would state that grasshoppers be kept and killed on the farm where they hatched and to ensure early summerfallow and trap strips as control measures.

Speaking further on this aspect of the question, Mr. Rutherford said: "Many authorities now believe that a major key to hopper control and reduction of damage to crops, rests in the control of migrations. If these insects can be confined to hatching areas, we would be moving in the direction of migration control."

He also advocated that a district survey of sprayers be made and that municipalities order sufficient supplies of chemical insecticides immediately. In this regard, he expressed the opinion that the 'hopper control program would be assisted if a standard price for chemical insecticide were established in each municipality.

In addition, the speaker urged local bodies to plan well in advance for preparatory 'hopper control work on roadsides and railway right-of-way.

"Remember that the community, the municipality and the farm play the key roles in any grasshopper control program," he told his audience, "thus the logical place to begin 'greasing the wheels' for a hopper control campaign would be at the local agricultural district board meeting."

In reviewing the successful 'hopper control campaign of last year, Mr. Rutherford said: "In every municipality where every farm had purchased and made use of chemical insecticides and where farmers had summerfallowed early and prepared trap strips, a successful program was recorded. In such areas as these it was proven by the farmers that crops can be saved—grasshoppers can be controlled—by timely community action."

"THE FASCINATING CATALOGUE"

City folk have caught onto one of the pleasures of country living and made it their own. It is shopping by catalogue.

Today a healthy proportion of mail order business reportedly comes from city dwellers. Instead of watching for the mailman, a whole generation of young Canadians is growing up watching for the delivery truck, especially in suburban areas where housewives find it difficult to get "down town."

The big catalogue which is so familiar to families in two million Canadian homes outside the big centres, is apparently just as alluring to city dwellers. The average 15,000 items illustrated are the equivalent of the stock of a large department store.

The illustrations which have fascinated generations of Canadians are nearly all photographs said to show the most realistic view of the merchandise so that mail order shoppers can have faith in their selections.

We are told that like a lot of things the catalogue is changing. Quicker methods of transportation and communication have made it possible to ship the latest styles to the remotest part of Canada very quickly.

Because of this, the catalogue is made up in sections like a newspaper. Pages on hardware and staple items are prepared first. Fashion pages are left to the last minute so the latest styles can be included.

Timing is of vital importance too. In some areas the book must still be delivered to allow time to order before freeze-up. Although the mail order business from cities is growing steadily, stores still have to ship orders by plane, river boat and dog team to many parts of the country.

TRYING TIMES

A well known district justice was sitting in the lounge of a hotel on a hot day, drinking a steaming cup of coffee.

A close friend arrived and said, "Why don't you drink something cooling? Have you ever tried chilled gin and tonic?"

"No," said the justice, "but I've tried a lot of fellows who have." —Irish Digest.
